

The department of Communicative Sciences and Disorders at New York University is seeking people who stutter and people who do not stutter ages 18-60 to participate in research on social perceptions and stuttering to help us identify factors that influence stuttering variability. Participants must speak English as their primary language and have no other speech, language, or neurological impairments other than stuttering. This experiment will take approximately 1.5 hours total and will be completed at NYU located at 665 Broadway, 6th floor, New York, NY 10012. Participants will receive a $50 Amazon gift card as compensation for their time. For more information please contact courtney.margulis@nyu.edu.