Adults Who Stutter Needed for Research Study

Researchers at Binghamton University are seeking adults who stutter to participate in a study examining self-disclosure and resilience.

You may be eligible if you:

- ✓ Are 18 years or older
- ✓ Identify as a person who stutters
- ✓ Can read and understand English

Participation includes:

- One online survey (approximately 30 minutes)
- $5 electronic gift card for completing the survey
- Optional follow-up interview
- Additional $30 gift card for interview participants

Participation is voluntary and confidential.

Please access the link below to review the Informed Consent which will provide further details on the research, and your rights as a participant. By accessing the survey, you are consenting to participate in that part of the research. At the end of the survey, you will be taken to a landing page where, if you agree to participate in the interview segment of the research, you will be asked to provide your contact information.
